Sorry for the many errors last week. I accidentally sent out the copy in which I had not changed the art work and graphics in some areas.

Family and Thanks.

Well, it is that time of year when football begins to wind down and you are either excited or feeling a bit left out depending on your teams success or failures. In the big picture of life I am sure we each have many things to be thankful for, that are much more meaningful than a win or loss on a football field. I know I do! However, sometimes the passion of what interests you fuels emotions that make you sound ungrateful or petty. I am guilty of that at times as well.

So this week as you sit with your family, extended family, friend or pet take a moment and a deep breath and think about what you are thankful for. If it is someone in the room you are sitting in, be sure to tell them. Nothing feels better than to know you make a difference to someone.

This weeks watch party hopefully has a nice crowd and partakes in the season finale for 2014. I want to take a moment to thank the staff at Holidays for giving us a place to gather and cheer (or cry). They do a great job. I also want to thank the FVH leaders for all they do to make the Husker watch parties a possibility. We will also be drawing for the 50.00 dollar gift certificate for the FOUR to PLAY and two handmade Husker Pillows made by our very own Kate for the Four to Play consolation prizes! I have also made some wood laser cut name tags for those members who have been FVH members in good standing 3 years in a row or more. (See all the rules and list of members on page 2.)

Well, this season is winding down and so is my time on this soapbox. So with that I hope you all have a Safe and Happy Holiday Season. Hope to see you Friday. Go Huskers!

Nebraska vs Iowa Game Notes

Looks as though the Huskers are the underdog going into this weeks game. Not much to say except I Hope the Huskers will get things going in the right direction. Plus I need the space for Watch party news.

Watch Party News and Notes!

We had 23 attend the Minnesota Watch. Thanks for coming!!

Welcome to Chris & Billie Barushak who joined us for the very first time.

We will have the Four-to-Play drawing this week. That's based on members who attended four or more times this year. All who qualify get one drawing ticket entered for attending the four times...and one additional ticket entered for each additional watch party attended this season. The drawing is for a $50 online gift certificate to Neebo, our FVH sponsor. We thank them for their generosity, and also FVH member Paul Sline from JanSport for getting this arranged for us. Now we will draw at half-time for the 2014 Four-to-Play winner. You do not need to be present to win.

Then, from the remaining ticket pool for those who were eligible, we will have two more drawings.

This will be for Kate's Husker throw pillows. To win a throw pillow you, Must be present to win, Four-to-Play winner is not eligible for a pillow and only one pillow per family.

Laser Cut Wood Name Tags will be given to the following...

No more Filling out Stickers!!

Here are the fans who are currently eligible:

Jim & Kim Arrants Brady & Amber Beran Bob & Donna Borszich Ann Cattau Laurel & Sara Eihusen
Aaron & Liz Jensen Dennis Korth Bob & Crystal Kramer Ron Nyhoff Paul Sline
Chris Zimmerman Jeff & Melissa Killham

There are a couple other families who would qualify if they come to the Iowa Watch party:
Gordy & Laurel Clewell Rick Vollard Tim & Nancy Zander

With just one game left to play in the regular season, there is still a lot of uncertainty regarding where the Nebraska Cornhuskers will end up spending bowl season. Several media outlets have released their latest bowl projections, which can be seen below.

Utah would be the best chance for a victory but not a gimme. After that Huskers probably double digit underdog in the rest of the games. We will know more after Friday.
